

Sculpture Competition

Natalie Knight, Armondo Baldinelli and Caroline Haeggi.

Mr. James Fitzsimmons, Editor of Art International from Switzerland to judge the competition between six South African sculptors who were invited to execute a 5 metre high stainless steel sculpture to be erected outside the Transvaal House in Pretoria.

The prize-winning maquette was the work of Zoltan Borboreki, who was born in Hungary and is now a South African citizen. Mr. Borboreki has won many international awards and his works can be found in major public and private collections.

Zoltan Borboreki with his prize-winning maquette.

Mr. James Fitzsimmons with Fernand Haeggi of Gallery 21.

The co-judge was Professor Barraclough, the newly appointed Professor of Fine Arts at the University of Witwatersrand. The competition was sponsored by Anglo American and Southern Cross Stainless Steel.

The maquettes were displayed at a cocktail party in the Carlton Hotel.

Armondo Baldinelli, James Fitzsimmons with Eduardo Villa.